

CReSIS is a group of scientists learning about our earth and that's ice on it in order to help stop this problem.

When we get the research we need we can begin to figure out an answer to our problem. CReSIS is a part of the puzzle helping put the pieces together.

Every year our planet gets warmer from global warming. The temperature rises making the ice on our earth melt into the ocean.